2.0.3 Release notes & cherry-picks review

- Cherry-picks
    - #16391 seems to be missing
    - #16339 status is still "in progress" on redmine.
- Release notes
    - #16439 seem to me more of a bugfix than a new feature.
    - #16384 is not mentioned nor included on the release on redmine, but was cherry-picked
    - Kubernetes documentation got some updates (no issue #) but it isn't mentioned.

Good catch. Added.

- #16339 status is still "in progress" on redmine.

I think there was something else I still wanted to follow up on. It is on a future sprint.

Sure.

- #16384 is not mentioned nor included on the release on redmine, but was cherry-picked

#16384 is a k8s doc update. The k8s docs were updated, but it still isn't production ready, and it isn't really part of the release. I asked Ward and he said no need to mention it.

I'm going to move forward with the release process.

The python 'rsa' package released a new version, version 4.1 and greater no longer supports python 2. As a result, installing arvados-python-client 2.0.3 from pip results in a broken install. The solution is to pin rsa to a compatible version.

In order to avoid doing a full 2.0.4 release for this packaging tweak, the python packages are re-released to PyPi as 2.0.3.1.

As a side effect, because the package release jenkins jobs handles both ruby and python, the Ruby packages are also released as 2.0.3.1.

As another side effect, because the script builds new versions of all packages, this caused arvados-cwl-runner 2.0.3.1 to be created, which required building and uploading an arvados/jobs:2.0.3.1 docker image.
