I've found one additional issue: If you already have some saved searches, they seem to not be loaded at app boot time because when I click on the search box the "saved queries" list is empty, and then when I save a new one, all the rest start to appear.

Thanks, I added the call to openSearchView to the empty search box code path and that fixes the issue - the only other change in behavior is that the first item is now selected automatically for both the empty and non-empty case in the onclick handler. Let me know what you think
